There is no other treatment for catarrh, head colds, husky voice or bronchitis, like the Hyomel method, none just as good, so easy and pleasant to use, or that gives such quick, sure and lasting relief. You breathe it—no stomach dosing. Wells & Haymaker Company sells it with agreement to refund your money if you are not benefited.

Try Hyomel at once and see how quickly it clears the head, stops the sniffing, and banishes catarrh. Hyomel will help you to enjoy good health. All druggists sell it. Ask for the complete outfit—$1.00 size.

LIGHTNING IS TROUBLESOME

Department Report Shows That
It Ranks Next to Trains in Starting Forest Fires.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Exhaustive inquiries have established the fact that lightning ranks next to railroads as a source of forest fire. Forest officers say that the increasing care with fire on the part of the railroads and the public generally tends to make lightning the largest single contributing cause.

Change of View.
This statement represents a change of view from that held less than a decade ago in this country, when forest journals gravely argued whether lightning caused forest fires, though it was known that trees were the objects most often struck. These are said to be oftenest struck simply because they are so numerous, and extending upward they shorten the distance between the ground and the clouds; further, their branches in the air and roots well into the earth invite electrical discharges.

While certain trees are said to invite lightning, and others to be immune from stroke, it seems to be a fact that any kind of tree will be struck, and the most numerous tree species in any locality is the one most likely to suffer.

Other things being equal, lightning seeks the tallest tree, or an isolated tree, or one on high ground. A deep-rooted tree is a better conductor than a shallow-rooted one, and a tree full of sap, or wet with rain, is of course a better conductor than a dry one. Lightning sets fires by igniting the tree itself, particularly when it is dead, or partly decayed and punky, or by igniting the dry humus or duff at its base. The forest soil, when dried out, ignites readily, because it is made of partly decayed twigs and leaves, and it can hold a smoldering fire for a considerable period. It is probable that most of the lightning-set fires start in the duff.

"Dry Thunder Storms."
In the mountains of southern California, Arizona, and New Mexico there are likely to be each year a number of electrical disturbances known as "dry thunder storms." They come at the end of the long dry season, and being unaccompanied by rain are very likely to start many serious fires. For this reason the forest service has to keep up its maximum fire fighting strength in these regions until the rains are full established. In the plan sand organization for fire fighting the service aims particularly to catch these unpreventable lightning-set fires at the time they start.

AN OUTING SUIT.

pieces of pattern in place, arranging each on a lengthwise thread of the material. Now fold, and on the edge of the fold lay the band sections, color and back cuffs and remaining band sections may be arranged opposite on a lengthwise thread of the material.

Now tuck the front of the blouse, stitching the tucks carefully in place. Close under-arm seam as notched; then close the shoulder seam. Gather the lower edge of front and back between double "T" perforations. Try on the blouse to see that it requires no alteration. The center-front is indicated by large "O" perforations. Join Japanese collar sections as notched, sew to neck edge as notched. Now sew the standing collar to shield as notched. Arrange sections of the band together according to notches. Turn under edge of slot perforations, lap to small "o" perforations and stitch, leaving edges to left of center-front free for opening. Sew to lower edge of front and back, notches even, double "oo" perforation at under-arm seam.

Close the sleeve seam, and, if desired, a cuff may be added. A plain hem or a bias fold makes a nice finish. In case a fold is used, turn the material back on the outside of the sleeve and stitch the bias fold along the edge.

CHILD LABOR REFERED TO AS HUMAN JUNK

By Lewis W. Hine, Who Says
Annually 300,000 Babies Die before One Year Old.

NEW YORK CITY, April 29.—"Child labor adds to the human junk pile." So says the National Child Labor Committee, and it describes the process with charts and photographs in the new exhibit on "The High Cost of Child Labor," which will be an important part of the National Conference on Charities and Corrections at Memphis, Tenn., from May 2 to 9.

Exhaustive Exhibit.
Every up to date organization has its exhibit nowadays which tells in poster form the story of its aims or of the problem with which it deals. This latest work of the National Child Labor Committee does not attempt to show merely the conditions in one or another industry, but links up the problem of child labor with all the other social problems that beset us. It states the cost of labor to the child—accidents, physical deterioration, illiteracy, moral dangers, juvenile crime; it shows the cost to industry in waste and lowered efficiency; it enumerates the burdens laid upon society—bringing money cost and trouble in the trail of the child labor adult.

Blood Troubles Are Often Hard to Locate

Catarrh, for Example May Be the Cause of Very Serious Illness.

A Slight Trouble Often Brings Serious Blood Disorders.
A chronic cold means something wrong constitutionally. Pimples mean bad blood. Rheumatism means faulty elimination. These and a hundred other symptoms are easily recognized, but where is the trouble? Where is it located? What is wrong with the bodily machine?
You will find any first class store and get a bottle of S. S. S. you are on the way to getting rid of those conditions that cause sickness and disease. But don't let anyone work off that old trick of something "just as good."
S. S. S. is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange, inflammatory conditions that affect the system and cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and food elements to enter the circulation, and food elements to enter the purification.
You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a steadily improved condition of the skin, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely the entire system was loaded with impurities.
You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, psoriasis, leprosy, scabies, boils, and all other diseased conditions of the blood. For special advice on any blood disease write to the S. S. S. Co., 223 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
Do not mix with substitutes, imitations or any of the horde of "just as good" Counterfeits of S. S. S.

This exhibit was prepared by Lewis W. Hine, of the National Child Labor Committee, and Walter Storey, of the Russell Sage Foundation. It was shown at the National Child Labor Conference at New Orleans in March, and has been on view in New York for a short time. After the close of the Memphis Conference, it will be added to the list of exhibits kept a readiness by the National Child Labor Committee to lend to communities that wish to arouse interest in the question. Prepare for Peace.

"In time of war prepare for peace." We must not let the horrors of our bloodshed in Mexico allow us to forget that every year 300,000 babies die in this country before they are one year old; that the juvenile courts are crowded with nobody knows how many delinquents day by day; that 2,000,000 children are at work and for war on these problems Uncle Sam has grudgingly the appropriation of the National Child Labor Committee, speaking of the appropriation asked for by Miss Lathrop, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau.

"You see the Children's Bureau was established to investigate and report upon all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life," and Congress enumerated ten subjects to which the bureau should devote special attention. The appropriation was very small, only $25,000, and we have been amazed at the amount Miss Lathrop and her staff have already accomplished. But they have only attempted to touch on infant mortality and to compile child labor laws if the bureau is to do the work for which it was created, it is absolutely necessary that the appropriation should be increased. The $164,000 asked for by Miss Lathrop were approved by the House of Representatives in spite of an unfavorable report by the House appropriations committee, but the matter has still to come before the Senate. We are urging our friends to ask the members of the Senate appropriation committee to approve the amount and to apportion it according to the schedule prepared by Miss Lathrop, the chief of the bureau.

Grave Reflection.
"It would be a grave reflection on our boasted twentieth Century if the government should allow the enormous expense of a war and should fail to provide the comparatively small sum of $164,000 for this important bureau."

The members of the Senate appropriations committee are Thomas S. Martin, of Virginia, chairman; Lee S. Overman, of North Carolina; Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma; John Walter Smith, of Maryland; George E. Chamberlain, of Oregon; Luke Lea, of Tennessee; Nathan P. Bryan, of Florida; Benjamin R. Tillman, of South Carolina; Charles E. Culberson, of Wyoming; Francis E. Warren, of California; Jacob C. Perkins, of New Hampshire; Reed Smoot, of Utah; William P. Dillingham, of Vermont; and Wesley L. Jones, of Washington.
